WATER STREET.

This article shows the changes that have been made on Water Street in the last sixty years in buildings and if it interests my readers of the News, I will be satisfied. This old matter brings some mighty pleasant memories and some extremely sad ones to me which I suppose is the lot of say man who reaches my age and retains his memory.

In looking this article over before giving it to the News, it seems I have cut the history of the old corner building rather short for a spot that was torn down with history covering so many years as that building did, and I think that I will try again going back to the time when Dr. Moses Smith had his office and store there. I dislike to talk or write about myself, but to say what I want to I have to use the personal pronoun many more times than I like. I do not remember much about Dr. Smith, except his diagnosis to me, a small boy who had to spend most of his time in his father's blacksmith shop as his mother was ill and the said small boy could not get along with the help who were doing the work at the Malson home. Dr. Smith was a lover of dumb animals, so I, and the times we had with the horses, sheep and hens were very pleasant; besides, I like all small boys, liked candy and peanuts, which he gave me in plenty, but I should have earned them by carrying him out of the street back at father's shop and cutting them up for his boys. Gossip can say what they like, but to me Dr. Smith will always remain a kindly, courteous gentleman, who tried to make a small boy have a little happier life.

One more personal matter, and I will go on with my story. All that I have written for the News was pictured in my mind between the years of three and ten. I have no data to go by, but simply give it to you as my memory has retained the pictures.

Going back to the story of the old corner building, there was an undertaker that was a history in itself, having been occupied by families and several times by barbers. My very first remembrance of it was when Stephen and Aunt Lydia Lovejoy lived there. They made history fast, especially Aunt Eddy, who was sour in disposition and always a terror to Water Street boys. I am afraid they left no chance for me to go to annoy her.

Coming down stairs again we find that Dr. Smith has sold out his store to George M. Burleigh, son of Mr. Burleigh, one of the most respected citizens. He enlarged the store, and in time it was the leading drug store of the town. Here was where the late C. W. Merrill son first came to Meredith, and I think that this store was the first home of the telegraph in Meredith. Then all dispatches were dotted down on long strips of paper running through quite a large machine, and was a great wonder to me and others that, Charles could tell what the machine was saying when he was writing on customers the further side of the store.

Right here I want to say a word concerning George M. Burleigh and my connection with him was long. In fact he employed me to do his book smiting as long as he did business. I have seen a man, once in a while, and wondering to what he had the town. His hobby was the school, and we owe to him, more than any one else, the change from the old red school house to the new building and lot we now have. When he died he left a place in Meredith's mythology that it will be hard to fill. He gave to Meredith of his means and time with no selfish and in view as far as I could ever discover. This is my private opinion of George Burleigh as a public man.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.
In the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty.

In the Convention of Delegates assembled at Concord in adjourned session on the second Tuesday of January in the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty, for the purpose of revising the Constitution of this State, in pursuance of the act

III. Resolved, That the sense of the qualified voters shall be taken by ballot upon each of the following questions submitted to them by the Convention:

1. Do you approve of empowering the legislature to impose and levy taxes on incomes, which taxes may be classified, graduated and progressive, with reasonable exemptions—as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?

5. Do you approve of amending the Bill of Rights by striking out the provision that no person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto provided he will pay an equivalent—as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?

6. Do you approve of amending the Bill of Rights by striking out the words "rightly grounded on evangelical principles" after the words "As morality and piety," and striking out the word "Protestant" before the words "teacher of piety, religion and morality"—as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?

7. Do you approve of amending the Bill of Rights by striking out the provision that pensions shall not be granted for more than one year at a time—as proposed in the amendment to the Constitution?

IV. Resolved, That the Secretary of State be directed to procure to be printed one hundred and twenty-five thousand copies of each part of the Constitution as are altered and amended by this Convention, together with the alterations and amendments, and the same number of copies of the questions to be proposed to the qualified voters, and the same number of copies of these resolutions; and to cause such copies to be reasonably distributed to the town clerks of the respective towns, wards and places in the state for the qualified voters in numbers proportionate as near as may be to the number of legal voters in the respective towns, wards and places; and it is made the duty of said clerks to reasonably distribute such copies among aid voters.

V. Resolved, That the Secretary of State be required to print a sufficient number of ballots containing said questions to be thus voted upon, which ballots shall be separate from any other, and to distribute the same with the regular official ballots for said election.

Upon the said ballots containing the questions to be voted upon, and opposite each question at the right hand, shall be printed the word "Yes" with a square near and opposite it, and the word "No" with a square near and

PARCEL POST MARKETING MERITS

The Parcel Post is a Short Cut Which Producers and Consumers Use to Good Advantage.

The proof of parcel-post marketing is in the eating.

Many thousands of consumers have tried out this method of purchasing farm products for the table and are eating their food with the same gusto of good food, flavored with the sauce of economy and service. After all, the final test of this method of direct marketing is the measure of satisfaction secured by buyer and seller. Instances of successful parcel-post sellings, North, South, East and West, which have come to the attention of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture, prove that the immense practical value of this method of buying and selling. While the extent to which the people of this country are marketing produce through the parcel post is not definitely known, there is every indication that the volume of business is increasing steadily.

A "Parcel Post" Prosperity.

And there is every reason why the parcel-post business should increase. Men and women are succeeding splendidly in building up their business with the mail service as their chief aid. Of course, the producer cannot succeed without an accessible market; he must be sure that he has the kind and quality of produce that is wanted; and he must learn the art of conducting his business by writing his letters, etc., in such a way as to give satisfaction. That is what a fruit grower in Oregon has done. For three or four years he has specialized in marketing fruit, berries, and vegetables by parcel post to customers in small towns within a radius of 200 miles. This mailing list now includes about 1,000 names, and his sales amount to about $3,000 annually.

By supplying products of extra quality which are carefully canned, packed, and shipped, the grower has been able to have never seen, but they trust him because he guarantees satisfaction. When an occasional shipment does not measure up to the standard, the grower writes to the customer, asks, "Is this business has grown so that recently he has begun to supply his produce to a wider circle of customers. As distribution is one of the most important for the present shortage, the department of agriculture has suggested plans to manufacturers by which it is hoped to supply those sections of the country first where the need is most pressing. It is believed that if the manufacturers proceed along the lines suggested, sufficient quantities of produce can be shipped to dealers to supply the demand with little loss to the hay crop.

SILAGE FROM MATURED CORN

Feeding Value Not Decreased Where Ears Have Not Fully Developed When Preserved.

Silage made from corn that has an opportunity to fully mature but which has been planted in such a way that the ears have not fully developed, has proved to be as good as silage made from corn equally well matured but which would yield a fair crop of corn to the acre. This is supposed to be due to the fact that in the production of the ears there is merely a transfer of food from the stalk and leaves to the ear. There is a slight decrease in the feeding value of corn silage produced when the ears are not over 100% full, and the loss is less from this method of preserving than in any other.

DESTROY HOMES OF INSECTS

Stalks of Cabbage, Cauliflower and Other Vegetables Should Not Be Left in Garden.

Clean up the cabbage patch! Don't raise a crop of insect pests on the stalks. That is what is likely to happen if stalks of cabbage or cauliflower, or other vegetables, are left in the garden after they have fulfilled their food mission. Entomologists of the United States department of agriculture advise that where such remnants of the crop can be promptly cut and burned, or where a double purpose will be kept down, the food provided for pest-making animals.

Then and no fault with the weather! He had made the world bright to be. He had made a leaf-sister for every bird. And a smile for every tree. We are the human hand that is the cause for better or worse. The world which they work the world do give. So measure the world by mete. Julia Carney.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS.

While fresh berries are in abundance it is timely to can some for winter use. For this purpose select the best of the fruit, such as raspberries, blackberries, and strawberries. Wash them thoroughly, and fill the jars and seal, place on the cement floor of the fruit closet or in the back part of the ice chest. If room permits, to accommodate a half dozen jars. Such fruit will be rich and just as fresh as when canned.

Rhubarb and Raspberry Conserve.—A most delicious conserve using two parts rhubarb and one part raspberries with equal weights of sugar, all cooked until soft. Any fruit such as strawberries, cherries or blackberries may be used in the same proportion. When one has a large quantity of few-berries this method is especially recommended, as the pieplant is usually plentiful and cheap. The product serves are more costly. The product seems to be so largely the berries in flavor that the rhubarb only adds in bulk.

Rhubarb Conserve.—Take five pounds of sugar, five pounds of rhubarb, four oranges, two lemons, and six lemons. Boil the orange skins until tender, discard the water. Grind the rhubarb and fruit and cook all together until thick.

Strawberry Preserves.—Take two pints of sugar, one small cup of water, half pint of lemon juice, and one pint of strawberries. Boil the fruit and sugar together for 15 minutes; pour into an earthen crock and let stand overnight. Can with the next morning. Cherries may be preserved the same way. If allowed to set in the jar for a day, covered with glass, they will be rich in color as well as good in flavor.

There is no playing fast or loose with the truth in any case, without growing the worse for it.—Dickens.

DRINKS AND FROZEN DAINTIES.

During the warm weather there is nothing so gratifying as a glass of cold fruit drink, or one of the many delicious varieties.

Mint Juice.—Make a quart of water with two cups of sugar and 20 mint leaves. Boil for 15 minutes; strain and cover with one and one-half cups of sugar. Boiling water, add 12 sprigs of mint in pieces and cover with one and one-half cups of sugar. Boiling water, add 12 sprigs of mint in pieces and cover with one and one-half cups of sugar. Boiling water, add 12 sprigs of mint in pieces and cover with one and one-half cups of sugar.

Cherry Frappe.—Take the juice from a quart can of white cherries; add a pint of water, one cup of sugar and sugar to taste. Blend and freeze as usual.

Orange Frappe.—Boil two cups of water twenty minutes; add the grated rind of one orange and pour it over two cups of blood orange juice and the juice of one lemon, strain, cool and freeze as directed.

Raspberry and Strawberry Sherbet.—A pint of berry juice, one pint of sugar, one pint of water, the juice of two lemons, one teaspoonful of gelatin, one cup of sugar, one pint of water and add the other ingredients, when well mixed freeze as usual. Prepared in the same manner, adding one cup of sugar to a pint of fruit and one quart of water. Freeze. And when frozen, cut into parts of finely pointed ice. Use a basin; add three measures of tea in the bottom, one measure of sugar, and repeat until the ice comes up well around the freezer. Turn slowly at first, then faster until it is well frozen.

ROAD LAW EASY TO LEARN.

Highway law is not hard to understand. It is universally recognized as the clearest and simplest system of law on our statute books. It speaks, not in terms of dead phrasing, but in simple, direct, forceful language. Any motorist who cares to do so can ascertain his legal rights and liabilities in his state in 15 minutes' reading. He won't need an attorney to interpret it for him, either.—Charles C. Sherlock in Motor.

Remove the paddle, put a cork in the freezer and cover well with ice and salt. Let stand three hours to ripen.

"Upon a crutch—her girlish face. Alight with love and tender grace—though the world be full of pain and place. Upon a crutch."

And you and I who journey through A time-honored world of dawn and dew, And cry to heaven overhead. We wait and wait at fate, while she And many more in agony. And leave and return, strong and true. Upon a crutch."

SAUCES FOR FISH AND MEATS.

The sauce of average thickness which is the most commonly used is made of two tablespoonfuls of each of flour and butter with one cupful of liquid, whether milk, stock or tomato.

An appropriate sauce to accompany a dish makes a plain dish into the ordinary. The cook who serves tasty sauces always has on hand materials for making such sauces as white, brown, tomato and Béchamel, and with these as a foundation is able to make sauces innumerable. For a brown sauce a slightly larger quantity of flour is used to thicken as thickness is lessened by browning the flour, the starch being destroyed. The brown sauce is made by browning the flour and butter well before adding the liquid.

Béchamel Sauce.—Cook one and one-half cups of white stock (which is broth from chicken or a combination of beef and lamb) with one cup of each of carrot and onion, a bay leaf, six peppercorns and a sprig of parsley, then strain. There should be a cupful. Most of one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one-fourth of a cupful of flour and gradually add the stock and one cupful of milk.

Tomato Sauce.—Take one-half can of tomatoes, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, eight peppercorns, a bit of bay leaf, and a sprig of parsley. Boil for one hour, rub through a sieve and add one cupful of brown stock and four tablespoonfuls of butter. Cook twenty minutes, and broiled together. Gradually add the hot liquid. To serve with fish the following is a most pleasing sauce.

Sauce Piquante.—To one cupful of brown sauce add one tablespoonful of vinegar, one-half small chopped onion, one-half small chopped carrot, one-half small chopped celery, and a dash of cayenne.

The lightest care, while yet concealed. Lee like a mountain on the breast; The heaviest grief, when once revealed, Is lullied by sympathy to rest. —Marion Rand.

WHAT TO EAT IN HOT WEATHER.

Fruit in various forms is especially helpful in hot weather. The salts, acids and mineral matter are so helpful in getting the blood to flow. A well chilled melon, peach or pear, a dash of berries or a well-ripened banana are usually some of the obtainable fruits and oranges and grapefruit are not plentiful.

Certain dishes may be prepared in such variety that one need not tire of them. Combined with fruit juices and served with cream they are both filling and nourishing. Sea moss is another form of gelatin which is being brought back to its old place in favor of a cupful of liquid. The value of any such gelatinous substance as food is in the fact that it requires no digestive organs. They should not be given with the idea of furnishing such nutrient, however, unless with them is some other food rich in salts.

Salmon With Caviar.—Line a buttered mold with cold, boiled rice. Fill the center with caviar and cover with more rice, put the cover on the mold and steam one-half hour. Serve with a cream sauce which may be seasoned with lemon juice, curry, or minced pineapple. A most delicious white sauce may be made by using sour cream; then the onion juice may be omitted.

Curry of Lamb.—Put into a saucepan three tablespoonfuls of butter and half a cup of oil. Cook for five minutes until the onion is brown. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour and a teaspoonful of curry; cook until smooth. Add a cupful of stock and cook for five minutes. Season with salt, pepper, strain over slices of cold roast lamb and pour over a deep layer of a border of rice.

Deviled Kidney.—Broil the kidneys, and when half cooked season with a knife and in the cut put a little mustard, paprika and salt and fish broiling. Place on small squares of butter, well buttered and keep hot. Make a sauce of melted butter, lemon juice and chopped parsley and pour over the kidneys.

Janitor's Sense of Responsibility Somewhat Embarrassing in This Particular Case

The principal of a city school building is still young and a very tentative animal. Occasionally he comes to the school building after her and takes her home in his roadster. The other afternoon she was finishing reports and the young man came into her room until she was ready to leave.

The janitor finished his work and she told him that he could leave whenever he wished to do so. They would close the building. He still be lingered until they left. The next morning he explained his stay by remarking that he was late getting home the evening before. "But you could have gone home," reminded the principal. "I told you we would close up."

"Yes, I know," he returned, "but you see, Miss T., it's this way. The board holds me responsible for this building and I'm not willing to leave it in charge of a perfectly strange man."

Naturally. "How was it that you took the part of the boy in the play?" "Oh, he was a dandy."

ALAS, AND AGAIN ALAS

Meredith Loses Two Games to the Strongest Team in the State

"Durgin" of Concord 5, Meredith 0.

First time we have made a mark like that this year and only once last season. I don't look real well but we would rather have it done by a team like the Durgins, who have played twenty-six games and lost but one, than by any of our next neighbors. As I remarked last week, it is not good for a man to always win, he must take punishment once in a while. We learned a whole lot at the Gun Club Grounds in the Capital City on Wednesday, the 4th of August, when we were our seventh game and first defeat. The "Durgins" are a remarkable clean fast bunch of ball players. The pitcher, Cutting, played with Pittsburg for two years and is a whizbang. The entire team in fact, have played many games and know how to play.

Large posters, greeted us, as we entered the city, promising BIGGEST GAME and West on to us.

The Meredith team is made of college stars. Also they have lost only one game in two seasons. These well known men will appear in the line-up: Eddy, p. Yale; Doolley, c. University of Vermont; Weed, 1b. Andover; Walker, ss. Andover; Scott, 3b. Andover; Rickford, lf. Columbia; Usher, if. City; Brennan, cf. Yale.

"Am not sure the Deans of the various institutions would recognize them." "Clare," says he saw Columbia University on his way in California last winter.

The game was called promptly at 4:30 and took exactly 1 hour and 30 minutes. It was good fast baseball. In the first inning Meredith failed to score. For Durgin, Callahan got first on error of Walker, (first error this season), and scored on error by E. Fernald. Meredith 0, Durgin 1. Second inning, Meredith out one, two, three. For Durgin, Doolittle got a hit but out at second. Doolley first on fielder's choice. Cutting out. Two gone and then we managed to make errors and the breaks were against us. Green got first on error of Lang. Callahan first on error of Scott and Doolley scored. Stattery got a hit and Green scored. McCarthy got a hit and Stattery scored. Martell out. Meredith 0, Durgin 5. And the remaining seven innings we all played ball. One, two, three out on each side. In brief the whole game was in the two innings and in the first inning two errors allowed the run. In the second two errors and three hits made the four runs of Durgin's five scores but two were actually earned runs. Meredith was not playing to her usual form. The forty-two miles automobile trip does not land a team on a strange diamond in the heat of chase.

Lang pitched for Meredith and made a remarkable showing. In the sixth inning the three men were retired each by hits to Lang, felled to first. In the seventh, Lang struck out all three men. In the eighth, Lang got two strike outs. The Durgins play as a unit and they play ball every minute.

Hits—Meredith 5, Durgin 7. Struck out—By Lang 8, by Cutting 6. Bases—Both Concord and for Durgin all the time. Decisions invariably in favor of Durgin and two or three of them so unfair that the Concord grandstand did the swearing for us. Innings—1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

Durgin of Concord 4, Meredith 3. Saturday, Aug. 7th, we played the second game with the Durgins of Concord, on the Plymouth Street grounds. One of the finest exhibitions of baseball ever played in Meredith and probably to the largest crowd. Eleven innings of excitement and in the final defeat we made an exhibition of courage to the disgust of our loyal friends and ourselves. Battery for Durgin was Chadwick and McCarthy. Chadwick was for several years with the Lawrence, Mass., nine. Battery for Meredith, Eddy and Knowles. At ten o'clock over five hundred. Both sides of the field filled with auto-

Secretary Daniels Sends Destroyers to Prevent Linking of Line on Florida Coast.

NO PERMISSION GRANTED.

Washington, Nov. 26.—President Wilson, who has not yet authorized the landing of the cable, which will connect with the Western Telegraph Company's line at Barbados. Word reached Washington that the Miami end of the cable will be landed despite the fact that specific authority has not been granted by the government. But no receipt of this information immediately steps were taken to see that the United States government was not deceived.

Washington. — Five American destroyers have been detailed by Secretary Daniels, in order of President Wilson, to prevent the laying of the cable, which will connect with the Western Telegraph Company's line at Barbados. Word reached Washington that the Miami end of the cable will be landed despite the fact that specific authority has not been granted by the government. But no receipt of this information immediately steps were taken to see that the United States government was not deceived.

As explained by officials, in itself the laying of the cable between Havana and Miami is a good thing. In fact, it is only through the cable that the promoters have attempted to land the cable. It will furnish a direct channel for telegraphic communication between the United States and Brazil and the east coast of South America, in general. Cables for points north of Rio de Janeiro now go via Europe to Barbados and then over the cable of the Western Telegraph Company, which has a concession from Brazil giving it a monopoly.

Information reaching Washington is that the British cable ship Colossus, which presumably is chartered by the Western Union, is now in the water between Barbados and Miami, already has completed the work to run one mile of the terminus in Florida city, which means that the cable has been laid two miles inside of American territorial waters.

American business men have frequently complained of the delay in transmitting cable messages to and from New York to Miami in Brazil via the British route. Despite delays, it is specifically charged that those messages are held up by a certain British Board of Trade. It is even charged that in some instances orders cable to American business men have been held up by the British Board of Trade.

Reports to the effect have been current. Before the war was similar complaints had been heard, affecting cables in South America and to Scandinavia, countries which were then despatches were transmitted via British cables and through London.

One reason Secretary of the Navy made so strongly urged in Brazil via the British route. Despite delays, it is specifically charged that those messages are held up by a certain British Board of Trade. It is even charged that in some instances orders cable to American business men have been held up by the British Board of Trade.

Recently the Danish government has completed a high power radio station at Copenhagen for direct wireless communication with the United States. The second radio station, which delays to messages via British and other cables and furnishing a direct channel for transmission of commercial messages to and from the United States and Denmark. A similar project is under way in Norway.

It is understood that the Western Union Company, under its contract with the British government, will actually take over certain British cables and will handle all cable business direct with points in Brazil, eliminating the London intermediary entirely, thus getting rid of delay.

The Western Union Telegraph Company already has started construction work on a new line to connect the Barbados and the State Department has under consideration the company's application for permission to lay the cable in Florida soil. It was said at the Western Union offices in New York.

A. J. Stevens, 124 Rumford street, Concord, N. H., says: "I injured my back and after that my kidneys bothered me. My back, just over my hips, swelled and pained terribly. Business and household were frequent and for days I had to get up often at night and had inflammation of the bladder. I tried different remedies, but got no better. Finally I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and started using them. I took one half dozen boxes and gained considerable relief. I continued using them until I was rid of the trouble. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and use them as a preventive."
